ONSITE CE SEMINARS UPDATE

Dear Member,

With the continued interest and increase in registrations, and based on overall feedback received from our recent seminar travel survey, as of now our 2020 Nashville and Charleston seminars will remain scheduled as planned.

Please note: there is no risk in registering for our in-person seminars during these uncertain times – we will waive any cancellation fee for registrations processed through November 30, 2020, no questions asked.

Added onsite safety precautions will be practiced. New safety measures at our in-person seminars for the remainder of 2020 will include:

- Social distancing enforced (seats for non-related parties placed 6 feet apart)
- Assigned seating (with co-registrants seated together)
- Face masks required for all attendees and non-presenting seminar staff
- Food & beverage individually packaged, with no shared/self-serve stations
- No cocktail reception or in-person networking events

Safety precautions are subject to change as we carefully monitor the situation and evaluate information provided by the CDC, WHO, and government officials. Additional details specific to each event will be provided upon registration.

Thank you in advance to our registrants in helping keep attendees, speakers, and hotel staff safe. We hope to see you at one of our upcoming seminars. Should you have any questions, please email seminars@mcgillhillgroup.com or call me at 877.306.9780.

Sincerely,

Sarah Casella, Seminar Coordinator
